FROM BEYOND THE SEA.

The Excitement in Ireland Over the Pope's Circular Unabated.

The Parnell Tribute Committee Resolve—Dynamite Conspirators Arraigned—Seven More Arrests Made—Plot to Kill the Czar.

Ireland.

DUBLIN, May 20.—James Carey, the informer, was Saturday released from custody. Carey declares he intends to remain in Dublin; and further, he will vigorously prosecute those of the tenants occupying his premises who have refused to pay rent since he became an informer. Ever since Carey turned informer his house has been guarded by policemen, and on his liberation Saturday the guard was doubled.

Seven persons have been arrested near Barville on the charge of being connected with the shooting of Mrs. Smythe, who was murdered April 2, 1882.

The Crown proposes to distribute the reward offered for the detection of the Phoenix Park murderers among the informers. It is believed it will also send abroad forthwith all informers who desire to leave the country.

It was announced Saturday that Carey's return to his home is only temporary, and that the Crown still holds him as a witness to testify in the cases of Sheridan, Tynan and Walsh.

Kinsella, the supposed lunatic, who stated he took part in the murder of Lord Leitrim, was discharged to-day and sent back to the work-house.

The £100,000 Parliament voted for promoting emigration from the distressed districts in Ireland is expended.

England.

LIVERPOOL, May 20.—The dynamite conspirators Kennedy, O'Herlihy, O'Connor, alias Dalton, Deasey and Flanagan were arraigned in court Saturday, and formally charged with conspiracy to murder, as well as treason-felony.

Testimony was given by witnesses showing Kennedy, O'Herlihy and O'Connor were connected with Deasey and Flanagan in that conspiracy.

The five prisoners were remanded until Monday.

Germany.

BERLIN, May 20.—It is reported that the Czar will meet the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria and King Humbert of Italy here next autumn. Official bulletins respecting the health of Bismarck should be received with caution. It is asserted the Prince suffers great pain, but he objects to the issuance of alarming bulletins. He is much affected by the political disappointments he has experienced, and it is said the latest reports in regard to negotiations between Prussia and the Vatican have been also a source of trouble.

A fire at Hildesheim destroyed twenty-five dwellings near the Rhine. Forty-four families are homeless.

COLOGNE, May 20.—The Gazette, in an apparently inspired article, says: "Any special cordiality shown Waddington in Berlin must have been personal. French Government circles make no effort to appear conciliatory toward Germany. Waldeck-Rousseau, French Minister of the Interior, has not scrupled to welcome the banner of the Alsace-Lorraine Society. Opportunist papers of France circulate libels on the German army, and nobody in France dares exhibit any liking for Germany. Thus we should be very mean spirited to care whether ordinary civilities to Waddington caused satisfaction in Paris."

Russia.

MOSCOW, May 20.—Immense crowds are arriving here to be present on the occasion of the coronation of the Czar.

St. PETERSBURG, May 20.—The police have been informed of the existence of a plot to frighten the horse of the Czar at some favorable opportunity during the procession at Moscow on his coronation, and in the confusion which would follow to kill the Emperor. An officer of the Erivan regiment who was recently arrested on suspicion of being engaged in the revolutionary movement was subjected to a severe examination, during which he mentioned the names of several officers of the Guards who, he declared, belonged to a revolutionary club. He stated, however, that the club pursued special objects and had no connection with the terrorists. The Czar, on learning of this confession, decided to postpone the date of his coronation, but was dissuaded from so doing. A number of officers of the Guards have been arrested in consequence of the prisoner's disclosures.

THE TERRIBLE STORM.

The Devastation Widespread, and Without Parallel.

Wrecked Houses and Dying and Mutilated People Everywhere in the Track of the Cyclone—Incidents of the Tempest.

RACINE, WIS., May 20.—The scene along the course of the cyclone is pitiful and heartrending in the extreme. It was not generally known until this morning that Racine had suffered a calamity without a parallel in its history. Nearly the entire population of the entire north and west side of the river visited during Saturday and night the ruins, where the scene among the dead, wounded and dying was one painful beyond description. In many instances surviving relatives had lost all semblance of reason. Physicians were not numerous enough to give prompt assistance, and numerous bleeding victims were rolled up in blankets while anxious relatives ran in every direction to secure medical aid.

There seems to be a disagreement as to the number of killed, which has been variously given from ten to thirty. Mayor Fish says thirteen. The following known to be dead are reported: Willie and James Kastanek, infant child of James Keisner, Paul Kuhl, Barney Willing's daughter, Mrs. N. Jackson (fatally injured) and two girls unknown. Three or four persons are missing, and it is asserted some were blown into the lake, where the cyclone ended, and, of course, such will not be found till they rise to the surface of the water.

Those fatally or seriously wounded are: Andrew Fox, wife and two children; Mrs. Keisner, Bernard Keisner, Mrs. Joseph Kastanek, Katie Socha, Gustav Keisner and wife, Mrs. Miller and three children, Mrs. Mary Long, daughter and grandson; Mrs. Mary McCarthy, Mrs. Thomas Long, sr., Herman and Albert Kuhl, Mrs. Kuertz, John Riegleman, Albert Bartz, W. A. Sprado, Wm. Riegleman and wife, Simon Gieg, Matt Lavin and wife, Mrs. James Decker, Mrs. H. W. Lutz, mother-in-law and servant girl; son of Anton Gorska, two of Mrs. Schomabe's family, Bernard Reizer, wife and child; the family of John Dorsey, Frank Juzak, wife and little girl; Jos. Kastanek, Kate McCarthy, Thos. Long, sr., Mrs. J. Riegleman, — Schunk, wife and son; Mr. Lickfield and child; C. Bortz, wife and son; Wm. Durstley, Mrs. W. A. Sprado, five sons of Wm. Riegleman, B. Falk and brother, Stephen Lerke, Fred Krop and wife, Charles Hapko, family of five injured; Wm. Gavina, family of six, Mrs. Miller and two children, Mrs. Long, bones fractured, grandchild bruised; Albert Kugel, fracture of clavicle and lungs perforated; A. Krugel, skull fractured, fatally injured; Wm. Sprago, leg fractured; A. Steve, arm and foot crushed; C. H. Stippel, thigh fractured in two places; Gus Kiser, contusion on the hip and chest; Mrs. Kortz, back of head injured, probably fatal; J. Cusaushek and wife, internal injuries and bruises; Daniel Meyer, arm broken, and C. Knudson, arm crushed.

A little girl of five months was discovered this morning in a yard near by with both legs broken, dead. A boy eight years of age was also found alive, but badly bruised. Jos. Keipel, living in a house on the lake shore, saw the cyclone coming, and started for the house of Mr. Hilker to get into the cellar, his wife and child being with him. When about half way across the lake the storm caught them, and Mrs. Keipel fell and lost her hold on the child, which was carried rapidly toward the lake. A large Newfoundland dog of Mr. Hilker ran and caught the child and held it until the danger was over, thus saving it from being carried into the lake. Mr. Keipel grasped his wife and saved her.

One hundred buildings of various kinds were destroyed, fences demolished, orchards uprooted, and a number of horses and cattle killed. Any estimate of the total loss must be taken with considerable allowance, but it is probable that $75,000 or $100,000 will not cover it, and the insurance must be a very meager percentage of this amount.

Among the peculiar incidents told of the cyclone is one to the effect that the house of Matt Lavin and wife, an aged couple residing on the lake shore, was picked up and hurled into the lake, leaving them sitting at a table on the floor in the room uninjured. Three miles from there, and out of the track of the storm, a barn was taken up, and three cows left standing uninjured on the floor.

When the storm struck the lake the water was thrown in the air to the height of seventy-five feet. A house on High street before the storm is missing, and can't be found.

Another storm is reported to have struck just east of Jacksonville, and pursued a northeasterly course, twenty-two miles west of Springfield. It is said the little hamlet of Leitenburg was destroyed, and eight persons were killed and injured. Full particulars are not obtainable.

WASHINGTON, IND., May 20.—A terrible storm struck this city last evening, uprooting shade-trees and unroofing many buildings. The Mountain railroad was blown to pieces by a tornado about five o'clock last evening. Every house in the town is said to have been demolished, but no lives lost. No particulars. It is also reported in the same special that a tornado struck Champaign, Illinois, yesterday afternoon, and blew down several buildings. Mrs. Garner was killed and her husband supposed to have been thrown into the ravine and killed and the body washed into the river.

CHICAGO, May 20.—Associate Press advices compute the loss of life in Illinois by the tornado of Friday night at from 61 to 63, given by counties and towns as follows: DeWitt county, 4; Mason county, 3; Livingston county, 2; near Grafton, Jersey county, 3; Madison county, 1; Winnebago county, 1; Litter, Morgan county, 7; Kootenai, Green county, 8; Douglas county, 1; Logan county, 1; Mascoutin county, 6; Hillsboro, 2; Stanton and Mount Olive, 4 to 6; Cayuga, McHenry county, 4; Saugamon county, 3; Macon, Macon county, 3; Buffalo Station, 1.

A Woman Poisoner.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—A Mr. Snyder of Tucson this State is the possessor of valuable mining property at Mineral Creek. This fact becoming known to a Mrs. Vail, she determined to have some of the property transferred to herself. To this end she formed Snyder's acquaintance and a close intimacy sprang up between them. Then she set systematically to poison him, after her influence had become strong enough over her victim to cause him to deed the claims to her. Snyder's health began to fail, and a trip to the hot springs near Camp Thomas was decided upon, with the hope of being benefited. Mrs. Vail accompanied him, also a man named Vail, no relation to the woman. The suspicious of Snyder's friends were aroused and he was communicated with through the postmaster at Fort Thomas. Snyder was found frothing at the mouth, almost in convulsions and betraying all the symptoms of having been poisoned. The sufferer was at once conveyed to Camp Thomas and a physician summoned, who pronounced the case one of mercurial poisoning. Mrs. Vail and her accomplice were at once arrested and lodged in jail. When accused of the crime she went into hysterics and tried to throw herself upon and kiss Snyder. It is supposed the poison had been administered in small doses since about the 1st of February. After starting on the trip to the springs, which was made in a wagon, his only companion being Mrs. Vail and her accomplice, Snyder began to grow rapidly worse, the poison being administered in heroic doses. The case will be thoroughly investigated.

A Peer in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 20.—Quite a distinguished party passed through Chicago Saturday on their way to Manitoba for a trip over the Canadian Pacific railroad. It consisted of Lord Dunmore, of Scotland; Captain C. F. Talbot, of London, first cousin of the Earl of Shrewsbury; the Hon. A. W. Ogilvie, of Montreal, a member of the Dominion Parliament; Mr. Bradhurst, Secretary to Lord Dunmore; and Mr. W. C. Van Horne, General Manager of the Canadian Pacific railroad. The party will make an extended tour over the line of the road to its present terminus, and will return home by way of Chicago.

Lord Dunmore is a man of forty odd years of age, and has been a Peer for thirty-eight of them. He is a great-grandson of the Lord Dunmore who was Colonial Governor of Virginia at the commencement of the Revolution, and he has in his possession a mass of correspondence between his ancestor and General Washington. He is a large, fine-looking man, with the open, easy manner common to all men who have knocked about the world a great deal. His estates are mainly in Invernesshire, of which county he is the Lord Lieutenant, and he was a member of the last Conservative Government under Disraeli. His family name is Murray, and his cousin, the Duke of Athol, is the head of the clan. He says he speaks Gaelic fluently. He and his friends left on the evening train over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

TYNAN TURNS UP.

He Notifies the British Government That He Is Ready for Trial.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Shortly after the arrest in Dublin of the men charged with the assassination of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke in Phoenix Park, the English newspapers announced with a flourish of trumpets that the famous—or notorious, as the case may be—"Number One" of the Irish Invincibles was Patrick Joseph Percy Tynan, and that he was then hiding and skulking in England. A few days later they announced that he had put himself in communication with the authorities, with a view to turning informer on his dupes. Then it was reported that he was in France; and again rumor had it that two detectives had discovered that he had gone to Mexico, and that they were to start after him.

The truth of the matter is that Tynan, aided by the fidelity and tact of his wife, eluded the vigilance of the English detectives and authorities, and came to this country, where he has been living ever since under his own name; and, though he has not obtruded himself upon public notice, he has neither hidden nor skulked. His whereabouts have been known to quite a number of people; and if the English Government has been as anxious as it professed to be for his apprehension the wonder is that none of its detectives have been able to find him.

Saturday, through his counsel, General Roger A. Pryor, Tynan took a step which may prove a momentous one, not only to himself, but may involve complications between the United States and Great Britain now undreamed of. Friday night he had a consultation with his counsel, in which he announced that he was tired of living under the imputation of hiding or skulking, and he requested General Pryor to announce to the attorney for the English Government here that he was willing to answer any charge that might be preferred against him before the authorities of the United States. The General, unwilling to expose him to the hazard involved in such a communication to the British Government, after writing the desired letter, hesitated and delayed sending it until he had again consulted his client, who answered that if the only objection to the communication was the peril to himself, to send it at once. As this was the only objection the letter was delivered, and the British Government was thus placed in authoritative information of his whereabouts.

If the English Government accepts his challenge, he will be taken before United States Commissioner Osborne, a gentleman who is said to have strong Anglican leaning. The English Government claims that Tynan was present in Phoenix Park when the assassination of Cavendish and Burke took place, and that they were personally directed by him. Of course their only authority is that of informers, and it will be interesting, should his extradition be demanded, to know just how much weight such testimony will have in a United States Court. Even if Osborne should decide to yield Tynan up, the President can interfere, and just what he would do should such an emergency arise, it would be hard to determine.

FOREST SLAUGHTER.

Over 400,000,000 Feet of Lumber From Two States in One Year.

ST. PAUL, MINN., May 20.—It has been an exceptionally busy season with the lumbermen. Under the impetus of a profitable and active market for more than two years now, preparation was made last fall for an exceedingly large cut of timber, and, taking one part of Wisconsin and Minnesota with another, the expectation has been fulfilled. The manufacture of pine lumber has been developing during the last three or four years beyond all comprehension, until a cut has been reached in the States of Minnesota and Wisconsin, and some adjoining territory on the north boundary of the latter State, which in round numbers exceeds 4,000,000,000 feet, and 1,250 square miles of ground, a strip a mile wide and 1,250 miles long, has been stripped of timber to satisfy the demand. The cut on the Upper Mississippi and the Rum figure represents a grand total of 471,746,320 feet; St. Paul & Duluth railroad, 38,160,000; Ashland and Bayfield, 63,051,000; Duluth District, grand total, 297,355,996; the St. Croix, a 10 per cent. increase, or a total of 300,208,964; the Black river, slightly larger cut than the preceding winter, the total being 228,100,000; the Wisconsin waters and tributaries, including the Yellow river have developed marvelously, and show a cut of 441,100,000 feet. There was no material increase in the cut of timber on any of the streams flowing into Lake Michigan on the west—the Wolf, the Oconto, the Peshtigo, and the Menominee—save on the latter stream, where the cut increased from 325,000,000 a year ago to 422,000,000 on the Menominee proper during the last winter. Even a large ratio of increase is reported on some of the contiguous streams which flow into Lake Michigan from the northern peninsula, and which have not been made a part of this exhibit. A reduction in the crop along the streams, farther south, which have been longer worked, may be looked for in the future. The summary is as follows: Menominee and contiguous streams, 480,000,000; Peshtigo river, 35,787,758; Oconto river, 46,200,000; Wolf River, 121,500,000; other points, 42,000,000; total, 785,487,758. Along the railroads there is palpable evidence of the rapid development of railroad lumbering, as found in the following figures of logs delivered at points on the railroads of Wisconsin: North Wisconsin, total 187,810,000 feet; Wisconsin Central, 184,200,000; Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western, 67,500,000.

Important Action of Irish Representatives.

NEW YORK, May 20.—A cable dispatch from Dublin says: At a meeting of the Parnell Tribute Committee the following resolution was adopted: "That we deeply deplore the action taken by the Sacred Congregation with reference to the movement; that we believe the arguments advanced in the Pope's circular are founded on misrepresentations, and not justly applicable either to the public life and work of Parnell or to an act of national gratitude to him on the part of the Irish people, and that we are determined to persevere in the work which we have undertaken; and to obtain, to the utmost of our power, the help of the people of Ireland and the Irish race in offering Parnell an adequate recognition of his labors and services for the Irish cause."

The declaration is signed, among others, by Members of Parliament Gray, Sullivan, Salor, Corbett, Sexton and Harrington, and Lord Mayor Dawson.

Jere Dunn Acquitted.

CHICAGO, May 20.—At a quarter to 9 o'clock, Saturday night, the jury in the Jere Dunn trial returned into court with a verdict of not guilty. They were out a little less than four hours when the decision was reached. The prisoner shook hands with the jury all round, and then an order was entered discharging the prisoner. There was no demonstration, for not a score of people were in the room. Dunn was then hurried back to the jail and liberated. Released from that institution he jumped in a hack and drove rapidly down town, and as he passed the street gamins cheered him. Within fifteen minutes after the rendering of the verdict, all the gamblers, saloon-keepers and sports were in a ferment. Dunn was dined and wined, and made much of by his large company of friends.

It Was Rum Did It.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Alexander Jefferson, the negro murderer under sentence of death in Raymond Street Jail, Brooklyn, thinks it is fortunate that two persons only were killed by him. You see, he said yesterday, "I had a pocket flask which held about half a pint of liquor, and I would have it filled at a bar, and then go outside and drink it all at a gulp. I kept on drinking in this way until I became a maniac." Jefferson says that if he had an armful of daggers he would not commit suicide. He believes that if he had friends and money the rope would never touch his neck. The Lord, he says, is with him and has saved his life to the present time for a purpose. He is now engaged in writing the story of his life, as he wishes to tell young men how rum brought him to the gallows.

A City in Difficulties.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The city of Elizabeth, New York, has not yet been sold by the Sheriff, but as it owes about seven million dollars, and has judgments for about a quarter of this amount hanging over its every house, the lot of the inhabitants is not a happy one. Friday, at a meeting of the bondholders, it was resolved to look thoroughly into the ability of the city to pay and determine what proportion of the debt can be paid. This is more sensible than to proceed by mandamus, but the proceedings merely put off the general settling day, which sooner or later must come.

SENATOR BECK contemplates answering the statements of the Senators Sherman and Morrill as to the manner in which the tax and tariff bill was passed, as soon as he shall have an opportunity to examine them carefully. It will be remembered that Mr. Morrill and Mr. Sherman both claimed that Mr. Beck had obstructed the passage of the measure.

SECRETARY FOLGER, who has been considering the question of the right of persons to export whisky from Newport News, Va., to Bermuda, and then re-import the same, either for immediate consumption or for storage in bonded warehouses for three years, is unable to arrive at a conclusion, and has submitted the matter to the Attorney General for his opinion. In the mean time the distillers who have been preparing to ship thousands of barrels of whisky, must wait until the opinion is rendered.

THE Washington Gazette, a Republican newspaper, says that Senator John Sherman, "instead of being at his home in Ohio, assisting to organize and generally strengthen the Republican party of that State, he is in the District of Columbia endeavoring to have his property improved at public cost. A great deal of work on Sherman's new house was done at the expense of the United States in Hill's bureau; hence naturally he does not want this brought to the surface and exposed to the public view; hence the nearness of his present heresies."

The national board of health has begun active work for the coming summer season, and opened several stations along the coasts of the South Atlantic States. Congress, at its last session, appropriated $100,000 to be used in the prevention and eradication of epidemics in the various States of the Union, leaving it discretionary with the President how the money should be expended. The President, in 1882, turned the appropriation over to the marine hospital service, a branch of the treasury department, but as yet he has made no assignment of the appropriation, and the friends of the national board of health are encouraged to think that this time he will direct its officials to take charge of it. The matter will probably be settled within the next six weeks, when the new fiscal year begins.

FIRST TRADE TRIBUNAL.

It Is Thought Labor Troubles Can Be Satisfactorily Settled in Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURG, PENN., May 20.—The Coal Trade Tribunal, which is the first one organized under the Wallace act, held its first regular meeting yesterday. It was composed of five members from each side of the controversy, who united in the choice of an umpire, to whom the final decision is left. For the last twenty days at least 5,000 miners in this district have been on a strike against a proposed reduction, hence the first step of the tribunal was to have them resume work. It was decided by representatives on both sides that the men should return to work on Monday next, pending a decision of the tribunal in regard to future prices. This is considered a good beginning of the first experiment of the Wallace plan, and all hope that it may be found an easy way of settling future labor troubles. The first action of the tribunal was to pledge both sides to abide by the decision of the umpire.

A Remarkable Land Slide.

MONTREAL, May 20.—News from St. Elie, in the County of Maskinonge, shows that Monday evening, about 9 o'clock, a land-slide took place on the bank of the River Yamachiche which blocked up its course and carried away acres of farm, brush, and heavy timbered land, doing great damage in all directions. On one hand a farmer bewailed the loss of four or five acres of land he had just plowed, while on another a farmer whose property had been divided by the stream had his property joined together by the slide. This gave and take business prevailed over the full extent of the singular movement. The damming up of the river has caused the formation of a lake some thirty feet deep, and parties who went to the scene canoed over the submerged forest of elms and maples. The river having as yet no outlet, further devastation is feared, unless the gangs of men now engaged opening a channel through the slide shall succeed in their efforts. The occurrence has caused dire consternation among the simple-minded French Canadian farmers of the district, who for a time believed that the end of the world had come when they heard the crushing broken trees and the rumbling of the earth.

AN INSANE MOTHER.

Her Awful Deed While Under a Domestical Mania.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Alice Zimmerman, the young, handsome and cultured wife of Frank Zimmerman, the artist, while insane, killed her twelve-days-old little daughter and attempted to kill her mother. The young wife, for some days prior to her confinement, took an aversion to her husband, mother and friends. Her babe awakened no feeling in her breast, and she declared that she hated it. Twice since her sickness she has attempted suicide. To-day she induced her mother to leave her, and during her absence plunged a pair of scissors into the infant's neck. She then attacked her mother, but was overpowered. She will be sent to an asylum.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—It is rumored that the President has about made up his mind to appoint Ex-Representative Anson McCook, of New York, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and that the appointment will be made early next week. McCook comes from the celebrated Ohio family of that name, but for two terms has represented a New York City district in Congress. He has always affiliated with the Half-Breed faction in politics, and Ex-Senator Conkling stepped out of his path to defeat his nomination for the Forty-eighth Congress. The theory upon which McCook's appointment will be made; if at all, is that it will placate some very disturbing elements in New York City politics.

A Lunatic Ghost at Large.

NEW YORK, May 20.—William Gerhardt, a lunatic in the epileptic ward of the Immigrants' Insane Asylum on Ward's Island, made his escape on Thursday afternoon and has not been seen since. He had been quiet recently and was allowed some freedom. He came from Rotterdam, and had been in the asylum since the 5th of February. He is a large man, of herculean strength.

Uneasy for General Crook.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—There is more uneasiness felt at the War Department concerning General Crook's long absence in the mountains than one would suppose, though nearly all the leading officers, when questioned on this subject, say that Crook is a good General and is able to take care of himself.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

MONDAY EVE., MAY 21, 1883.

The mercury, as you will find, is playing naughty tricks. By dropping down and leaving us in most unpleasant fix. To get new ulster overcoats. Will be our purses breaking, So stand the chill as best you may And take it out in shaking.

The Court of Claims is in session today.

The straw hats that came tremblingly to the front last week have fallen to the rear.

Linen and Mohair ulsters, large lot also Jap parasols 15 cents each, at Hunt & Doyle's.

ALTHOUGH this is the 21st day of May, overcoats were comfortable and in demand today.

Four million herrings were placed in the Ohio river last week by the United States Fish Commissioner.

The weekly circulation of the daily and weekly BULLETIN is 5,736, which is an increase of 239, during the week past.

MESSRS. A. C. SMITH & Co., shipped a carload of pressed brick to Cincinnati, on Saturday, the first ever sent from Maysville to that market.

The street railway track layers have reached a part on Second street near the Southern Presbyterian parsonage. The work is moving along rapidly.

A new counterfeit five dollar gold coin is in circulation. It bears the date of 1843 and purports to have been coined at New Orleans. It is heavily plated and considerably lighter than the genuine coin.

CLERK BALL is about to lose his polite and obliging deputy, Col. J. B. Noyes, who has been offered and has accepted a position as cashier and book-keeper at Sweet Springs, in Monroe county, West Va., for the season beginning June 1st and ending October 1st. These springs are situated in a delightful region and are very popular as a summer resort. Col. Noyes hopes to have his Maysville friends visit him during the season, and promises his best efforts for their entertainment. He leaves to enter upon his duties about the first of June.

To Make a Filter.

The Scientific American gives the following directions for making a water filter: To make a filter with a barrel, procure a piece of fine brass wire cloth of a size sufficient to make a partition across the barrel. Support this wire cloth with a coarser wire cloth under it and also a light frame of oak, to keep the wire cloth from sagging. Fill in upon the wire cloth about three inches in depth of clear, sharp sand, then two inches of charcoal broken up finely, but no dust. Then on the charcoal four inches of clear, sharp sand. Fill up the barrel with water, and draw from the bottom.

A FRANKFORT despatch to the Courier-Journal referring to the argument in the Craft case before the Court of Appeals says:

The tenor of the argument for the appellant is that Ellis, who was hanged by the mob, and was the chief witness against Craig, if living would have been an incompetent witness by reason of his having been convicted of an infamous crime, and that, therefore, proof as to his testimony upon the former trial was incompetent. Ellis, while in jail at Lexington, after testifying made statements contradictory of his testimony given in court, which the appellant offered to prove. The lower court excluded the testimony, and the action in so doing is relied upon as good grounds for a reversal of the case. It is claimed by the Commonwealth that a witness can not be contradicted without giving him an opportunity to explain, and that therefore a dead witness can not be contradicted. These are the principal points involved in the appeal, excepting that the appellant claims he was entitled to an acquittal, inasmuch as there was no corroborating evidence to convict him of the crime.

The following is from the Covington news column of the Enquirer of Saturday:

Last night Mr. F. M. Vanden, while passing along Madison street, between Pike and Seventh, slipped and fell, severely injured his leg, which was broken last year. He was carried to his home on Scott street, above Ninth where he was attended by Dr. F. H. Noonan.

Mr. Vanden, who is the son of the late P. B. Vanden, and formerly lived in this city, was a soldier on the Confederate side during the war, and as the writer happens to know, was as gallant a one as ever left his native State. He participated in the battle of Chickamauga and came out of the fight with three Federal bullets in his body one of which shattered his knee. The recent accident and the one last year were the result of his injuries received in battle. His old comrades in Mason county will be sorry to hear of his bad luck.

THE BAD BOY.

Why the Grocery Man Thought he was a Thoroughbred and Gave him all the Herring he Wanted.

Strange and Unaccountable Conduct of his Pa over a Suit of Clothes.

Peck's Snm.

"Ah, ha, you have got your deserts at last," said the grocery man to the bad boy, as he came in with one eye black, and his nose peeled on one side, and sat down on a board across the coal scuttle, and began whistling as unconcerned as possible. "What's the matter with your eye?"

"Boy tried to gouge it out without asking my consent," and the bad boy took a dried herring out of the box and began peeling it. "He is in bed now, and his ma is poulticing him, and she says he will be out about the last of next week."

"Oh, you are going to be a prize fighter, ain't you?" said the grocery man, disgusted. "When a boy leaves a job where he is working, and goes to loafing around he becomes a fighter the first thing. What your pa ought to do is bind you out with a farmer, where you would have to work all the time. I wish you would go away from here, because you look like one of these fellows that comes up before the police judge Monday morning, and gets thirty days in the house of correction. Why don't you go out and loaf around a slaughter house, where you would look appropriate?" and the grocery man took a hair-brush and brushed some loose sugar and tea, that was on the counter, into the sugar barrel.

"Well, if you have got through with your sermon, I will toot a little on my horn," and the boy threw the remains of the herring over behind a barrel of potatoes, and wiped his hands on a coffee sack. "If you had this black eye, and had got it the way I did, it would be a more priceless gem in the crown of glory you hope to wear, than any gem you can get by putting quarters in the collection plate, with the holes filled with lead, as you did last Sunday, when I was watching you. O, didn't you look pious when you picked that filled quarter out, and held your thumb over the place where the lead was. The way of the black eye was this. I got a job tending a soda fountain, and last night, just before we closed, there was two or three young loafers in the place, and a girl came in for a glass of soda. Five years ago she was one of the brightest scholars in the ward schools, when I was in the intermediate department. She was as handsome as a peach, and everybody liked her. At recess she used to take my part when the boys knocked me around, and she lived near us. She had a heart as big as that cheese box, and I guess that's what's the matter. Anyway, she left school, and then it was said she was going to be married to a fellow who is now in the duke business, but he went back on her and after awhile her ma turned her out doors, and for a year or two she was jerking beer in a concert saloon, until the mayor stopped the concerts. She tried hard to get sewing to do, but they wouldn't have her, I guess 'cause she cried so much when she was sewing, and the tears wet the cloth she was sewing on. Once I asked pa why ma didn't give her some sewing to do, and he said for me to dry up and never speak to her if I met her on the street. It seemed tuff to pass her on the street, when she had tears in her eyes as big as marbles, and not speak to her when I know her so well, and she had been so kind to me at school, just 'cause a dude wouldn't marry her, but I wanted to obey pa, so I used to walk around a block when I saw her coming, 'cause I didn't want to hurt her feelings. Well, last night she came in the store, looking pretty shabby, and wanted a glass of soda, and I gave it to her, and O, how her hand trembled when she raised the glass to her lips, and how wet her eyes were, and how pale her face was. I choked up so I couldn't speak when she handed me the nickel, and when she looked up at me and smiled just like she used to, and said I was getting to be almost a man since we went to school at the old school house and put her handkerchief to her eyes, by gosh, my eyes got so full I couldn't tell whether it was a nickel or a lozenge she gave me. Just then one of these loafers began to laugh at her, and call her names and say the police ought to take her up for a stray, and he made fun of her until she cried some more, and I got hot and went around to where he was and told him if he said another unkind word to her I would man him. He laughed and asked if she was my sister, and I told him that a poor friendless girl, who was sick and in distress, and who was insulted, ought to be every boy's sister, for a minute, and any boy who had a spark of manhood should protect her, and then he laughed and said I ought to be one of the Little Sisters of the Poor, and he took hold of her faded shawl and pulled the weak girl against the showcase, and said something mean to her, and she looked as though she wanted to die, and I mashed that boy one right on the nose. Well, the air seemed to be full of me for a minute, 'cause he was bigger than me, and he got me down and got his thumb in my eye. I guess he was going to take my eye out, but I turned him over and got on top and I matted him until he begged, but I wouldn't let him up till he asked the girl's pardon, and swore he would whip any boy that insulted her, and then I let him up, and the girl thanked me, but I told her I couldn't speak to her, 'cause she was tuff, and pa didn't want me to speak to anybody who was tuff, but if anybody ever insulted her so she had to cry, that I would whip him if I had to take a club. I told pa about it, and I thought he would be mad at me for taking the part of a girl that was tuff, but by gosh, pa hugged me, and the tears came in his eyes, and he said I had got good blood in me, and he said I did just right, and if I would show him the father of the boy that I whipped, pa said he would whip the old man, and mas it for me to find the poor girl and send her up to the house and she would give her a job making pillow-cases and night shirts. Don't it seem darn queer to you that everybody goes back on a poor girl 'cause she makes a mistake, and the blasted whelp that is to blame gets a champion. It makes me tired to think of it," and the boy got up and shook himself, and looked in the cracked mirror hanging upon a post, to see how his eye was getting along.

"Say, young fellow, you are a thoroughbred," said the grocery man, as he sprinkled some water on the asparagus and lettuce, "and you can come in here and get all the herring you want, and never mind the black eye. I wish I had it myself. Yes, it does seem tough to see people never allow a girl to reform. Now, in Bible times, the Savior forgave Mary, or somebody, I forget now what her name was, and she was a better girl than ever. What we need is more of the spirit of Christ, and the world would be better."

"What we want is about ten thousand Christs. We ought to have ten or fifteen right here in Milwaukee, and they would find plenty of business, too. But this climate seems to be too rough. Say, did I tell you about pa and ma having trouble?"

"Well, you see ma wants to economize all she can, and pa has been getting thinner since he quit drinkin' and reformed, and I have kept on growing until I am bigger than he is. Funny, ain't it, that a boy should be bigger than his pa? Pa wanted a new suit of clothes, and ma said she would fix him, and so she took one of my old suits and made it over for pa, and he wore them a week before he knew it was an old suit made over, but one day he found a handful of dried up angle worms in the pistol pocket that I had forgot when I was fishing, and pa laid the angle worms to ma, and ma had to explain that she made over one of my old suits for pa. He was mad and took them off and threw them out the back window, and swore he would never humiliate himself by wearing his son's old clothes. Ma tried to reason with him, but he was awful worked up and said he was no old charity hospital, and he stormed around to find his old suit of clothes, but ma had sold them to a plaster of paris image peddler, and pa hadn't anything to wear, and he wanted ma to go in the alley and pick up the suit he threw out the window, but a rag man had picked them up and was going away, and pa he grabbed a linen duster and put it on and went out after the rag picker, and he ran and pa after him, and the rag man told a policeman there was an escaped lunatic from the asylum, and he was chasing people all over the city, and the policeman took pa by the linen duster and pulled it off, and he was a sight when they took him to the police station. Ma and me had to go down and bail him out, and the police lent us a tarpaulin to put over pa, and we got him home, and he is wearing his summer pants while the tailor makes him a new pair of clothes. I think pa is too excitable, and too particular. I never kicked on wearing pa's old clothes, and I think he ought to wear mine now. Well, I must go down to the sweetened wind factory and jerk soda," and the boy went out and hung up a sign in front of the store, "Spinnage, for greens, that the cat has made a nest in over Sunday."

A DISHONEST FELLOW.

A Victim in Illinois, One in California, and Still Another in New Zealand.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., May 20.—Sensational developments have resulted day in the case of Booth, the bicyclist, who swindled a young St. Louis lady and was arrested therefor. A woman, calling herself Mrs. Alice Weeden, called at police headquarters, and said she had been Booth's mistress, but that he had deserted her about seven months ago, and took nearly all her clothing and jewelry. The day after he left a letter came for him, which she opened. It was from his mother in Wellington, New Zealand, reproaching him for leaving there suddenly, and begging him to come back, pay his debts, and deal honorably by the young girl whom he compromised. Booth's trunk was in the hands of the police, and Mrs. Weeden asked to look over the contents. She identified many articles as hers. She said that, besides taking her things, he made away with $1,200 in money. While the trunk-searching was going on Miss McCabe, accompanied by Gardner and some lady, entered. Captain Lees then decided to have Booth brought up. He did not appear surprised at meeting Mrs. Weeden. Not a muscle of his face moved. She greeted him with, "How are you, Charley?" and the two proceeded to divide the contents of the trunk. She claimed about three-fourths of the articles. She claimed all his white shirts, asserting that she had bought and paid for them in Melbourne. While the two were disputing the door opened and Miss McCabe, Booth's latest victim, entered, leaning on the arm of Chief Crowley. Booth was visibly moved. He started and glanced nervously at her and at the officer. She was much affected, and sobbed and moaned. The scene was sad. Gardner stood on one side with a determined face and fists clenched, breathing vengeance on Booth. The latter soon recovered his self-possession and continued to arrange the trunk. Miss McCabe spoke a few words in a low tone to him. Tears came into his eyes, and he said he wished the thing had not happened, as it was bad for both. She demanded a ring and $50 from him, and after some demurring he gave her the ring, but refused to give up the money until he had seen his attorney. Mrs. Weeden will prosecute him for grand larceny, complaint already having been made at the time he decamped last October. A correspondent interviewed Miss McCabe. She was in spasms nearly all day yesterday, and to-day was hardly able to speak upon the subject. She said she left an honored home for Booth, who seemed kind and affectionate—all that a woman could desire. She first met him in Whitehall, Ill., at the house of her adopted father. She is almost broken-hearted by her lover's perfidy, and intends to go back to St. Louis as soon as possible. Gardner has also abandoned all his plans of going to Washington Territory. It is hard to place Booth's nativity, but he was probably born in Canada. Reports have been received from various quarters of Booth's desertion of other women.

Death of a Man With a Strange History.

PARIS, May 20.—There has just died at Charenton, near this city, a man who has had a very curious history. Thirty years ago this person, whose name was Roussot, was condemned to death at Seine Assizes for the murder of an old gentleman, M. Demoury. The case had excited considerable interest, and the court was crowded with spectators. Among the persons standing immediately behind Roussot, who was flanked by a pair of gendarmes, was one Planchat, an employe of the Presse newspaper, who had somehow contrived to wriggle himself into that position without attracting notice. Scarcely had the sentence been pronounced when Planchat moved, as he afterward explained, by an uncontrollable impulse, passed the side of his hand over the prisoner's neck in imitation of the keen blade of the guillotine, at the same time emitting a whirling sound. Roussot instantly fell forward with a shriek of terror, and the bystanders, indignant at this heartless and shocking act, rushed upon Planchat and roundly abused him. Planchat was subsequently condemned to two years' imprisonment. As for his victim, he never recovered from the shock, remaining insane until the day of his death. He was pardoned by the Emperor and confined, first at Bicetre, and afterward at Charenton, where he has just expired. The unfortunate man was under the impression that he had been actually beheaded in the Palais de Justice, and when relating the story was in the habit of imitating the sound that haunted him for thirty years.
